THE BEET SUGAR FACTORY

The Eastern Sugar Company Rapidly Getting Ready for Business.

The giant iron skeleton of the beet sugar factory is looming up more and more every day. Persons going from Phoenix to Glendale stop a half mile this side of the latter place and watch it grow. A spur from the S. F. P. & L. for the transportation of material runs out to the factory. The first story is already completed and work has been begun on the second. The building will be 280 feet long and 65 feet wide. A part of it will be three stories high and a part of it five stories.

Other buildings for which the foundations are now being laid are a boiler house, 160x87 feet; a limekiln house, 20x67 feet; sugar warehouse, 280x67 feet; beet sheds, 400x150 feet. They will all be of brick and fireproof construction.

The Eastern Sugar company has established offices in the O'Neill building and is now ready to contract with farmers and landowners for the purchase of their crops. The contract offered is a very liberal one, the prices ranging from $4 to $5 a ton, according to the sugar contents of the beets. Seed will be furnished by the company; three carloads are already on the way from the east. The company will also furnish tools, and a large crew of expert beet growers is coming from Colorado and Utah who will assist the farmers with necessary advice regarding the growing of the crops.

Experiments made on eighty different tracts of ground in the valley have shown an average yield of nineteen tons to the acre with an average sugar percentage of seventeen. According to the prices offered this would make a net yield of $91 to the acre. It is to the interest of all to encourage the planting of beets so that one of the greatest industries of the world may flourish in the Salt River valley.

Lafayette Myers, vice manager of the Eastern Sugar company, will leave shortly for Colorado and California to arrange for labor to assist those who contemplate planting a large acreage. Many of the laborers will bring families.

An Interesting Statement.

Mr. Ben L. Bear says he has at last discovered a positive cure for dyspepsia. "For years," said the above druggist yesterday, "I have been waiting for some one to discover a remedy that really will cure indigestion and dyspepsia."

"A short time ago I learned that a new remedy called 'PEPSIKOLA' had been placed on the market, and on investigation I found that at last there is a remedy that surely will cure."

"I had in a big supply because I knew that as soon as people began to realize what a remarkable remedy PEPISIKOLA is there would be a big demand for it, and it is selling even beyond my expectations."

It is not often a druggist sells a remedy with the positive guarantee it will cure, but PEPISIKOLA does cure a lot of nervousness, dizzy spells, sour stomach, coated tongue, palpitation, biliousness, headache and other symptoms of dyspepsia. Mr. Bear will hand you back your money cheerfully and without argument.

PEPSIKOLA is also a grand nerve tonic and is sure to help all who feel run down and worn out because of the debilitating effects of the hot weather.

No one should really hesitate on trying a 25 cent box of PEPISIKOLA, as it will not cost you a penny should it fail to relieve and cure the very worst case of indigestion and dyspepsia.

ADVANCE IN MILK.

Owing to the scarcity of help, advance in price of water and the fact that milk has long been sold too cheap to realize a fair profit, the milkmen of the valley have agreed among themselves to establish the following revised price list for milk and cream:

MILK—Retail: Per quart, 6-1-4c; per pint, 3c; per gallon, 24c; wholesale, 15c per gallon.

Cream—Per quart, 25c; per pint, 12-1-2c; per 1-2 pint, 6-1-4c.

THE LAW LIBRARY

Its Early Removal From the Capitol to the Court House.

The board of curators of the territorial library will shortly move the law portion of the library from the capitol building to the courthouse annex in rooms opposite Judge Kent's chambers. Workmen are engaged in putting in shelving. Both the north rooms of the annex will be filled and shelving will be placed along the west wall of the hallway.

There will be 7,000 volumes, embracing nearly all the state reports to date. About 1,000 volumes are missing, but the curators are arranging with various publishing houses for supplying the missing volumes.

The removal of the law books of the territorial library has been in contemplation for some time. The territorial library was moved to the capitol building in the first place for the reason that there was no other place for it. It was also thought at that time that session of the supreme court would be held there, but the courtroom was found to be entirely unsuited.

The immense collection of books has therefore been of little use to anybody since it was taken to the capitol. When a lawyer wants a law book he generally finds it out after he gets into court and wants it at once. There is no time then to make a two-mile trip after it.

The library quarters at the capitol, spacious as they seemed at first, are getting pretty well crowded, so that the removal of the law books will afford relief. The books will be under the supervision of Judge Kent, who is the head of the board of curators.

MINING NOTES.

A Palo has returned from a trip to the Rapid Transit mine. He also visited the Oro mine, better known as the Old Boaz. An air compressor is being put on this property, and a shaft will be sunk to a depth of 1,000 feet. The impression is that this property is now being handled by people who will make it pay. It is a property and needs to be worked on a large scale.—Courier.
